Rebecca Gomez, PhD

Associate Dean for Undergraduate Student Success

Keynote Speaker

Joellen Russell, PhD

University Distinguished Professor

Thomas R. Brown Distinguished Chair of Integrative Science

Depts. of Geosciences, Planetary Science, Hydrology & Atmospheric Science

Prof. Joellen Russell is an oceanographer, climate scientist and University Distinguished Professor at the University of Arizona. Her research uses robot floats, satellites, and supercomputers to observe and predict the ocean's role in the climate and carbon cycle of the past, the present and the future. Russell's earlier work on the westerly winds led to her greatest research accomplishment so far: the creation of a new paradigm in climate science, namely that warmer climates produce poleward intensified westerly winds. This insight solved one of the long-standing climate paradoxes, the mechanism responsible for transferring one-third of the carbon dioxide in the atmosphere into the ocean and then back out again during our repeated glacial-interglacial cycles. Prof. Russell is one of the authors of the climate scientists' amicus brief cited in the landmark 2007 Massachusetts vs the EPA Supreme Court decision that ruled that carbon dioxide is a pollutant covered under the Clean Air Act and must be regulated by the EPA.

Prof. Russell has joint appointments in Departments of Lunar and Planetary Sciences, Hydrology and Atmospheric Sciences, and Mathematics/Program in Applied Mathematics. She has been serving on the UA Faculty Senate since 2015 and is also an executive committee member of the University of Arizona Space Institute, an executive committee member of the Applied Math Graduate Interdisciplinary Program, and a faculty member of the Global Change Graduate Interdisciplinary Program.

Student Speaker

Gigi Regine Ruiz

Neuroscience & Cognitive Science

Dean's List

Gigi Ruiz is an F.W. Honors College senior majoring in Neuroscience & Cognitive Science (NSCS) with minors in Biochemistry and Music. During her time at the University of Arizona, she has had the pleasure of representing the NSCS department, the F.W. Honors College, and the College of Science through their respective ambassador programs. Formerly, she conducted research in a neuropharmacology lab investigating addiction to stimulants and opiates. These days, she has switched her focus to social work and is currently completing her honors senior thesis with the Survivor Advocacy Program, providing support for students who have experienced sexual assault, harassment, and discrimination. After graduation, she plans to pursue a Master's in Social Work with the ultimate goal of a Psychology Ph.D. to practice mental health counseling and therapy. In her free time, she enjoys training her puppy, Watson, playing piano, and exploring the beautiful Tucson landscape.
